NEW EXPLORATORY WELL AT ALONDRA SOUGHT BY CHRISTIE
Permission to drill an exploratory oil well in Gardena Alondra Park will be sought by H. C. Christie of Los Angeles from the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission. Original application was filed with Municipal Zoning Administrator Huber E. Smutz, but the property lies outside the city area and Christie was referred to the county board.

Alaskan Highway To Ease Travel Restrictions

The initial easing of travel restrictions on the Alaska military highway has been announced. Properly organized hunting parties, accompanied by qualified guides are now allowed to use the facilities of this long restricted highway. However, such parties are warned that all of the other strict regulations, including the necessity for obtaining individual permits to travel over the highway are still vigorously enforced.

With food, lodging and gasoline accommodations located at widely separated intervals, authorities caution all that they must risk entirely at their own risk and that no help can be expected from highway authorities in case of accident, illness or breakdown of automotive equipment. It is further warned that vehicles will be examined for "roadworthiness" and permits to travel over the highway will not be issued to persons whose cars are not in good mechanical condition.

West Coast hunters interested in making the trip can submit their applications to the Traffic Control Board, Alaska Military Highway, Canadian Section, 103rd street, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, or contact representatives of that office at Dawson Creek, British Columbia, Fort St. John, British Columbia and Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

Approval should be gained before proceeding further with plans.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

It would be a happy pleasure if we could express the greetings of the season to each of you personally and individually. All the folks in your Gas Company Home Service Department do wish you happiness and good cheer in your holiday festivities.

We enjoy bringing you cooking suggestions and recipes. And we hope you like them, too.

FROM ONE COOK TO ANOTHER

Many good cooks will tell you they like the "turkey and trimmings" more on the days following the feast than on the occasion of the dinner. That's quite understandable.

It's always nice to make a meal that involves little preparation. However, the wise homemaker takes care that the menu using the festive left-overs will be attractive and offer a pleasing variety.

CHANGE THE ROUTINE

If you have quite a supply of turkey left over, here's an idea. Change the routine and serve the soup within the first day or so.

That luscious soup usually marks the last of the turkey. You may surprise the family when some dish containing the nice tender meat makes it way to the table on a later day. Getting rid of the carcass makes more room in the refrigerator, too.

You may freeze a package or two of the fine firm pieces of turkey to be used a week or ten days after Christmas. Be sure to defrost the freezing unit first so that won't have to be done right away. Once the meat is frozen, it must be kept that way until you are ready to use it.

You'll want to wrap the meat carefully. Make the package as nearly air-tight as possible, and it will keep nicely.

Most folks have pet ways of using left-overs. And finding ideas for finishing up the turkey is not too large a problem.

We'll give you a couple of recipes we like just to get you started. And may we say again—

SEASON'S GREETINGS!

TURKEY-CHEESE STRATA
12 slices bread
Sliced cooked turkey
1/2 lb. American cheese, grated
2 eggs
3 C. milk
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 Tbsp. minced onion
1 tsp. salt
Pepper

Remove crusts from bread slices. Arrange 6 slices in bottom of oiled baking pan. Cover with a layer of sliced turkey and half of the grated cheese. Put on remaining 6 slices of bread and top with turkey and grated cheese. Beat eggs slightly and blend in remaining ingredients. Pour over bread. Let stand 15 minutes. Bake at 325° for 45 to 50 minutes. Serve at once.

CREOLE TURKEY

Turkey slices
3 Tbsp. margarine
1 C. uncooked rice
2 C. tomatoes
1 1/2 C. water
1/2 C. finely chopped onion
2 Tbsp. minced parsley
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper

Wash rice thoroughly. Drain. Brown rice in margarine, stirring constantly. Add tomatoes, water, vegetables and seasonings. Lay turkey slices on top of mixture. Cover. Cook over low gas flame until rice is tender—about 35-40 minutes.
